

Market analysis & Forecast

Microencapsulation market

The global Microencapsulated Fragrance market

Market Insight:

Fragrance microcapsules are proven—but stuck in textiles & fabric care.

Swing' s Opportunity:

First to migrate this tech into wearable daily life--from jewelry to sports gear, car mounts, and beyond.

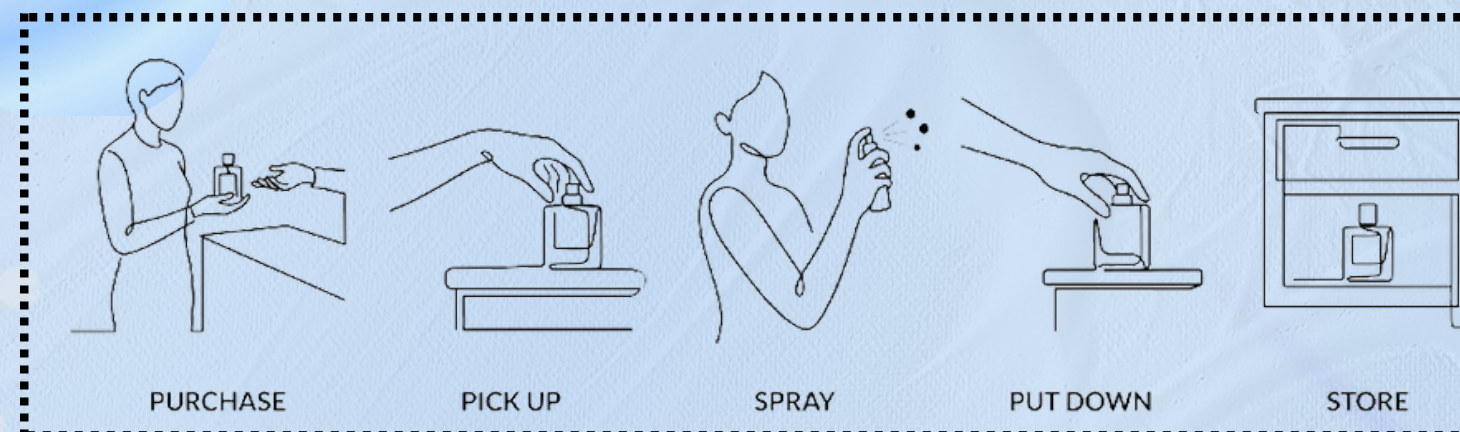

Pain Points

Low refill rate, high waste

high behavioral friction

fades fast, short-lasting scent

Traditional behavioral process

The problem with traditional perfumes is that the scent fades too fast, and the process of using them is multi-step and cumbersome—which significantly reduces how often people use them and how often they refill. The result is product waste and a loss of the true value that fragrance could offer.

Behavioral Friction: the effort customers exert to complete tasks related to their consumption goals (Padigar et al., Journal of Consumer Experience, 2024)

Brand Selection & Core Idea

- Standalone Product Line: Swing by L' Oréal Luxe
 - The first 'Swing'-activated fragrance system
- Slogan : Swing it anywhere. Scent on demand.

Friction-triggered release is proven technology (Givaudan, Firmenich, Lucta)

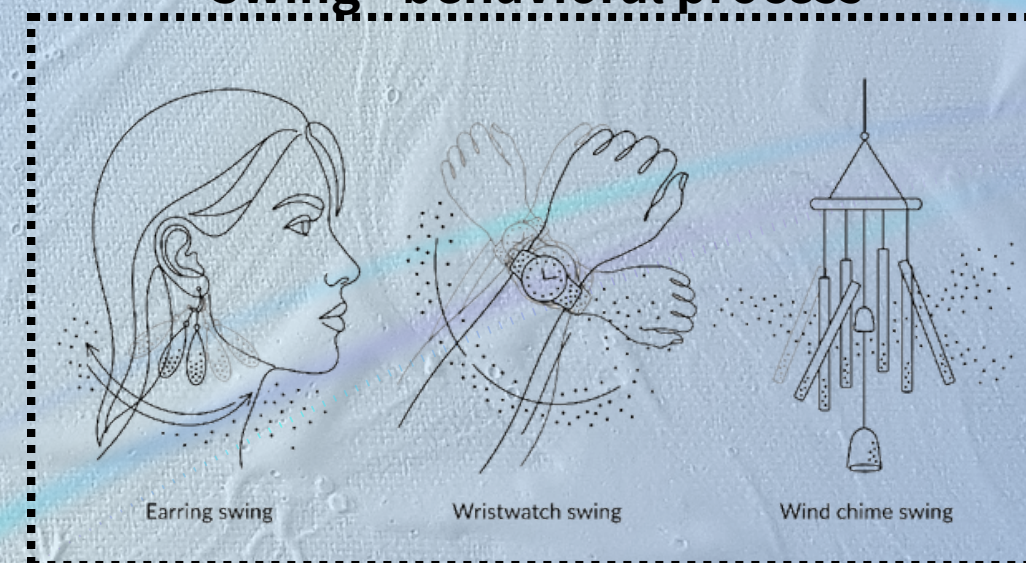

Biodegradable capsules are available (Lucta Pure,Firmenich plant-based, IFF ENVIROCAP™)

Functional layers on capsules are feasible (IFF IDP,Firmenich mineral layer)

Visual pearl effect is achievable (Microcaps Perfume Pearls™)
